The challenge of building a leading global research university is great, but HBKU is confident it will achieve this goal successfully through the hard-work, dedication, and incredible talent of its faculty & staff. As a growing university, it is dedicated to recruiting the finest faculty and staff from around the world committed to achieving its mission.

HBKU faculty and staff will have numerous opportunities to build a truly integrated learning community and a dynamic campus by joining together and working collaboratively with other faculty and staff from its partner universities.
